Specializing in everything from indoor kitchen and bathroom countertops to outdoor kitchen installations, American Marble and Granite brings immense value through its tailored approach. Clients benefit from expert templating, top-tier fabrication, and meticulous installation handled by seasoned professionals. Whether crafting a statement marble kitchen island, a sleek quartz bathroom vanity, or a rugged outdoor stone bar, each project is executed with the highest level of skill and attention to detail.

Their extensive material catalog accommodates a wide range of tastes and functional requirements. Natural stones like marble and granite offer unique veining and enduring elegance, while engineered options such as quartz and quartzite deliver greater durability and simpler upkeep—ideal for busy households. American Marble and Granite guides homeowners through this selection process, offering insights on material performance, stain resistance, and overall longevity. The result is a surface that not only aligns with aesthetic preferences but also withstands the demands of real life.

Beyond countertops, they offer fully integrated solutions that include cabinetry design and sink installation. This end-to-end service ensures seamless compatibility between countertops, cabinetry, and fixtures—producing harmonious, cohesive interiors built to last. Modern kitchens benefit from thoughtful layouts and seamless flow, while bathrooms enjoy refined finishes and superior water resistance.

Outdoor living spaces are also reimagined through custom stonework that merges style and durability. Whether it's enhancing a backyard patio with a stunning built-in bar or crafting a refined grilling station, the company balances aesthetic beauty with structural integrity, ensuring the stones endure through changing weather and heavy use.
